

The ultimate millennium album – we've unearthed everything from Christian salsa to Christian gamalan not to mention gospel and Norwegian folk. This selection will stun believers and non-believers alike!

.. and remixed by cutting edge producers around the globe, expect these sounds at a club or dancefloor near you. Is this what they mean by House of God?

M21 background

M21 is a new music and entertainment corporation which places emphasis on protecting the interests of its musicians, writers and performers.

M21 was established in 1998 as a separate company by the music and entertainment solicitors Fenton Hills (now Jens Hills & Co.). From a small but focused foundation the intention is to challenge established values and practices.

M21 is an umbrella company incorporating four divisions: Recording, Publishing, Artist Management and Consultancy/Legal. Across these four divisions, M21 offers a complete entertainment industry service.

Global Fusion

Global Fusion arranges and administers international licensing and distribution for around a dozen World and World Fusion record labels and artists. It became a part of M21 in June 1998 and is now launching its own series of albums.

Two Sounds One Vision

classical and traditional music from the four corners of the globe released with parallel dance remix albums inspired by the same sounds

Music which crystallises the romance of the gypsy lifestyle, the freedom of the nomad, the multicultural inspiration brought to host nations by displaced peoples and the hopes & opportunities travelling with the refugee.

Top remixers and producers cross yet more boundaries with the music of travel .. Trip Hop with global style.

The concept

The Global Fusion series sets out to do for world music what Enigma did for Gregorian Chant – find accessible and inspirational music which not enough people hear, use remixes to give it the audience it deserves, and create new and exciting fusions in the process.

Global Fusion albums come in twos. Number one is the straight one – pure and inspirational classical/traditional music from across the globe. Number two is the new one – available completely separately and featuring remixes (or other fusions) inspired by the same sounds.

Watch out for 'Global House'!

The package

Strong graphics tie the package together. Although marketed and sold separately, albums in the parallel series are easily identified with each other and with the Global Fusion brand.

The same generic graphics tie in live shows. Pre and new Millennium concerts will promote the Jesus 2000 traditional album. Pre and new millennium roadshows and parties will promote the Jesus 2000 remix album.

The team

The key people behind Global Fusion have a wealth of experience in the field. Between them they have run one of Europe's most successful world music labels, initiated and co-ordinated some of the world's first and finest fusion projects and worked with many of the biggest names in the dance remix field.

The themes

The first two projects, Roam (if you want to) and Jesus 2000 are well underway. Other projects in the melting pot are:

music recorded by one of Peking's finest traditional musicians ... and remixed music for plucked string instruments from around the world. Everything from sitars to koras ... and remixed music for bowed string instruments from around the world. Everything from fiddles to jinghus ... and remixed bagpipes, accordions and concertinas, cumbia, forro, and vallenato, Celtic, French and Gallician ... and remixed

flutes, shengs, and digeridoos, charanga, tung-hsiao and concerto, Cuban, Indian and Cantonese ... and remixed
